Cholera is spreading rapidly in Cartagena.

Berlin, 3rd—Referring to the statements published by the Temps that the French cavalry on the frontier were about to be reinforced, the *N. D. A. This statement by the German paper in question has caused great indignation in France.

The Governor set about immediately levying troops, and had wagons prepared to transport them when it was discovered that the telegram was intended for a little joke by an employee in the Villa Maria telegraph ofice.

Montevideo, 6th—It is rumoured that a decree will be issued closing the ports against Spanish vessels.

An explosion occurred on board the the English barque Hawarden Castle on her way out to the Plate, resulting in the death of one man.

THE GOLDEN CONGRESS.

The golden Congress of 1881, which was the first Congress President Roca inaugurated, turned paper into gold, brought the country back to specie payments, and voted a "presupuesto" or Budget of 20,497,708$. Although the country, no doubt, has grown much since 1881; yet we see no reason why with a little effort on Dr Pacheco's part, the Budget for the ensuing year, if not placed on a parity with that of 1881, should not be at least cut down to 30 millions, which is an increase of 50 per cent on the Budget of 1881, and we maintain that, notwithstanding all our growth, all our progress, all our go-aheadism, the country has not advanced 50 per cent over its 1881 status.

As an instance of the utter mismanagement of our Budget, the extravagance in some departments, and the paltry savings in others, we may cite the figures in the "presupuesto," for immigration, an item which covers one of the most important and most progressive branches of administration, one which grows before our eyes, and without which the country would be nowhere; will it be credited that for this all important item Congress voted a smaller sum last year than in many previous years! Here are the figures:

Immigration—

1871.....	$206,666
1874.....	235,438
1875.....	328,976
1876.....	278,132
1877.....	288,535
1880.....	254,237
1882.....	256,444
1883.....	256,124
1884.....	255,996

These figures eloquently denounce the inequalities of our public expenditure, and we remind our readers that last year, with a total of immigrant arrivals reaching 100,000, and immensely surpassing the arrivals of any previous year, the Government spent less than in years when the Immigration arrivals did not reach 40,000; and yet, even in this Immigration item of budget expenditure, Dr Pacheco, if he thinks proper, can reduce the figure by suspending for a year or two all those Emigration Agents abroad, whose services can well be dispensed with for the present.

Again, we find that when Dr. Don Eduardo Costa was Minister of Education the total sum voted in the Budget for his "Ministerio" was but $468,024, whilst last year for the same "Ministerio" Congress voted Dr. Wilde and even the golden Congress of Gen. Roca in 1881 only voted for the same "Ministerio" $1,420,907.

Where, we ask, have all the children come from in four short years to justify so monstrous an increase in our school expenditure? At the rate we are marching on in the school line, ten millions in the year 1888 would hardly suffice for this "Ministerio."

Verily it was a lucky day for this Republic when the Pellegrini affair burst on us all. It brings us to our senses, teaches us solemn truths worth knowing, and saves the country from the headlong ruin to which it was marching.

THE PENNANO RAILWAY.

This great scheme, which, as we already announced, has not been thrown out, but sent back to committee, has every prospect of being passed this session.

The debate on the bill was one of the most interesting, but owing to its great length we were obliged to cut it short. We give, however, now the concluding remarks not only of the informing member of the committee, but of the Deputy who most steadfastly opposed it. Deputy Perez continuing his speech after the quarter an hour's interlude said:—

With regard to Oran, all the hon. Deputies know the importance of this rising district, and, so soon as the railway reaches the spot, it will, no doubt, acquire the dimensions of a most prosperous centre. I shall not dwell on the importance of this district, but shall at once approach the point which will probably meet with some opposition from my hon. colleagues. I allude to the guarantee of 6 o/o. I can well understand that this opposition arises from the fact that a further responsibility would be a new burthen for the treasury. But when we take into account the importance of a work like this which is certain to repay all he outlay entailed by its construction, we must ask ourselves what reason we have for opposing it. Our opposition will merely deprive the country of a work that would contribute in no small degree to its material prosperity and welfare. This can be the only result of an untimely opposition. The present financial difficulties, it is true, constitute a weighty argument against the granting of the guarantee in question. But we must take into account that this guarantee, if sanctioned, is to be accorded within five or six years, and then the line will be completed. If the Nation cannot afford to pay this guarantee at the present moment, we have no reason to infer that in five years our finances will be in a worse condition than today. To believe this, we must have the deeply-rooted prejudices of a pessimist. The crisis is the result of transitory causes, the only conclusion we can, therefore, draw is that the crisis must be transitory. Government has always a great difficulty to surmount before granting the guarantee: to ascertain the net earnings of a railway. But this difficulty which has also been felt in other countries, in France for example, has been avoided by a certain stipulation, namely that the railway company must pay 6 per cent interest on the guarantee.

In this manner, no company need hesitate in making known the real profits made. This system is in reality a kind of savings' bank for the Nation, for the sums given out must be returned within a term not exceeding four or five years.

Deputy Perez then briefly alluded to the other railways of the country that had obtained a guarantee of 7 o/o, and stated that the opportunity of doing a good turn at less cost and risk should be at once seized. He furthermore observed that no other company had offered to pay 6 o/o on the guarantee. The only point of discussion was to examine the kilometric cost of the railway and ascertain whether the maximum cost of $20,000 was too high. This, the Hon. Deputy had no difficulty in proving, was not too dear, if the richness of the territory crossed, the innumerable rivers etc. be taken into account. He alluded to the obstacles which would have to be overcome in the construction of the line, as the road was very undulating and woody. Moreover the company would be obliged to convey their material to a great distance. The Engineers' Department consider $20,000 per kilometre exceedingly cheap. The total length of the line will not exceed fifty leagues.

Deputy Perez having resumed his seat, M. Yofre rose and stated he had the greatest respect for the opinion of the Board of Public Works, but in this case he was inclined to think that the Board and the informing member had been deceived by an enthusiastic idea of the immense resources and riches of the territory through which the railway is to pass. In reply to the report issued by the Board, he would make some remarks. M. Pennano could not claim to be the first to advise the construction of a railway from Oran to the Littoral. Many companies had suggested the idea before. Dwelling at some length on this statement, M. Yofre observed that last year a project had been presented to establish railway-communication between Oran and Reconquista.

M. Yofre advised the Chamber to take into account, before sanctioning the project, that Brazil and Chile had already made great efforts to furnish outlets for Bolivian productions by means of railways and canals, for which large sums had been voted three years ago. The Hon. Deputy referred to the narrow gauge of the Central Norte line and, subsequently dwelling on details, concluded by stating that the line when completed would not be sufficient to meet all the requirements of commerce.

Deputy Perez: I shall not oppose the motion in question, for I think, with even the most prejudiced against the scheme, that the project should not be passed without every Deputy being thoroughly and conscientiously satisfied with it. Consequently, although I had intended to reply to my Hon. colleague's speech, I shall reserve my argument for the next session.

Very probably the Hon. Deputy forgets that this railway will not require any guarantee, as the guarantee will be purely nominal. Likewise the Hon. Deputy has not taken into account that the territory, through which the proposed line is to pass, is rich in productions and possesses immense resources, which more forcibly prove the necessity of constructing a railway and as soon as practicable the better.

LONDON LETTER.

(From our own Correspondent.)

THE GREAT SENSATION OF THE DAY.

THE MAIDEN TRIBUTE OF MODERN BABYLON.

July 8th.

The prudish world has been shocked, the moral world pained, and the world in general astounded by the publication in the Pall Mall Gazette of a series of articles professing to be the report of a "Secret Commission" on certain vicious practices resulting in the moral destruction of young girls of ages varying from five to thirteen and sixteen. The ostensible object of the proprietors of the Gazette is to awaken the public mind to the necessity of insisting upon the passing of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, which has already been passed in the House of Lords more than once, and for some reason hitches and gets laid by in the Commons. In that Act are clauses which regulate what, in the purposely depraved language of the Pall Mall Gazette, is called "the close time" for girls, meaning, in legal phraseology, "the age of consent." At present that age is thirteen. Many of the bishops and peers wished to raise it to eighteen. The amended proposal now in favour in the House of Commons is fifteen and a day." The Pall Mall Gazette seems inclined to have it fixed at twenty-one. But it is not only the "age of consent" which engages the attention of your vigorous and adventurous contemporary. It wishes to put an end to an immoral traffic by which the children of the poor are sacrificed to the lusts of the wealthy. Presumably to attain that object, and, as it says today, "to light a flame which shall never be extinguished," it has employed some one to hunt up in fashionable brothels in Park Lane, Bayswater, or St. John's Wood, all the secrets of the trade, and to reveal them in a plainness of language and minuteness of detail never yet in my experience attempted in print. Certainly not in Town Talk in its worst days, or even in the lowest literature of Holywell Street, or in the semi-scientific works adopted rather than written by Mr. Bradlaugh and Mrs. Besant.

Last week, as you may have seen, the Pall Mall prepared us for the publication of the articles, and warned any of us who were squeamish on the point not to read them. Articles I, II, and III have appeared, and the final one, No. V, will be given the day after tomorrow. On Monday, when No I appeared, I got my Pall Mall for a penny, as usual. On Tuesday, a boy who at the corner of Chancery Lane has for years been accustomed to fold up for me my copy when he caught sight of me at a distance, asked me twopence for the paper. To-day I had to pay sixpence. To-morrow the Pall Mall may be half-a-crown and on Friday five shillings. The first two numbers are already out of print. On Tuesday evening I had occasion to go to the Pall Mall Office in Northumberland Street, but could not get near it. The street was full of newsboys, crowding at the windows and climbing on each other's shoulders to get a delivery of copies. Mr. W. H. Smith, Cabinet Minister and seller of papers at the railway stations, has refused to supply his customers with the paper so long as the objectionable articles continue, and other respectable news agents, I believe, have followed his example. At an agency, where there is a most charming girl, I asked to-day on my way from Regent's Park, if the Pall Mall had arrived. "No, sir," she said, with a flashing eye, in a lovely voice and significant accent, "it has not." Her papa had evidently stopped the paper; and it is no wonder, for truly there are certain paragraphs in the articles complained of that are more than most Horatios could have dreamed of in their "physiology." The world, of course, is divided into two camps on the subject. The political enemies and trade rivals of the Pall Mall call aloud for police prosecution. The Globe of this evening announces that the law officers of the Crown have advised the prosecution of the publishers.

In the House of Commons last night, Mr. C. Bentinck asked the Home Secretary whether his attention has been directed to publications relating to objectionable subjects which have been printed and extensively circulated throughout the metropolis by the proprietors of the Pall-Mall Gazette, and whether any means exist of subjecting the authors and publishers of these publications to criminal proceedings. Mr. Cavendish Bentinck, who was received with cheers and laughter, said he wished also to address a further question whether the Home Secretary was aware that since Monday the sale of the Pall-Mall Gazette had been suspended at the railway stations and private bookstalls, and that it had only been carried on in the streets by individuals, many of whom were under age, who exhibited indecent placards and sold the publication at more than the market price to purchasers, without reference to sex or age.

Mr. Callan asked whether the proprietor and responsible editor of the Pall-Mall Gazette, which, according to its own advertizement was a journal "written by gentlemen for gentlemen" (laughter), and which purported to represent "independent Liberalism," was a person of the name of Yates Thompson who for many years was the confidential private secretary of Earl Spencer, while Lord Lieutenant, and the "confrère" of Mr. Cornwall and ex-Inspector French, lately charged with felonious practices (oh, oh.)

The Speaker interrupted the hon. member, and informed him that these were matters which did not arise out of the question.

Mr. Callan said then he would like to know whether it was true that the paper, which was usually sold at the trade price of ninepence for thirteen, had this day, in consequence of the prurient demand for copies, been raised by the responsible manager in the office 25 per cent.

Sir R. Cross said he had been asked a question of pure law which might have been put to the Attorney-General. Treating the question as one of pure law, he was advised that the publishers of obscene matter can be prosecuted by indictment in the usual way, and that the offence is punishable by fine and imprisonment, according to the discretion of the court. But it is for the jury to determine what is an obscene publication. As regards the sale and price of the paper he had no information.

The statement that the price had been raised 25 per cent. is denied by the Pall-Mall in its report of the question in Parliament.

Your contemporary, of course, anticipated all this vituperation, and has, no doubt, taken good leading advice. Its own leading article on the subject tonight is dashing and menacing. It threatens to call into the witness-box half the Legislature. "Mrs Jefferies," it says, "pleaded guilty in order to save her noble and Regal patrons from exposure. There would be no such abrupt termination to any proceedings which might be commenced against us, and that is very well known to those who talk this nonsense about prosecuting as criminals those who have reluctantly been driven to expose crimes at which the nation stands aghast."

Mr. Spurgeon writes to the Pall-Mall saying—"I feel bowed down with shame and indignation. It is a loathsome business, but even sewers must be cleansed. I pray that great good may come of this horrible exposure. It will incidentally do harm, but the great drift of the result will be lasting benefit," &c. "Spare not the villains though they wear stars and garters, &c.

Now, this great middle-class Liberal and Dissenter has neatly put for you the two strong elements—the moral and political—upon which the Pall-Mall relies for defence, supposing that its intentions were honest, and its affectation of morality was not that of the vendor of dirty books on a race-course, who advises you not to buy the book, but he will sell you a straw for a halfpenny, and "chuck yer in the book,"

The Pall-Mall goes in for plain speaking, and for democracy tempered by socialism, and what with anti-C.D. Act people, dissent, evangelical moralists and the newly-enfranchised poor, its position would be too strong for a Government prosecution, were it not that Englishmen look askance at too demonstrative morality not cleanly wrapped up; and the lower orders—the rank and file—have not the delicacy on the subject of female virtue that exists in the upper middle classes; I do not say they are less virtuous, but bred up, male and female, in close contact, the precise and common terms used by the Pall-Mall in describing what young girls are supposed to prize as their sole stock in trade will not affect the lower orders. The youngest of them do habitually in courting what wealthy old gentlemen pay for as an occasional luxury. This afternoon I entered a stationer's shop, really to buy steel pens, and two or three gentlemen of the street, who had congregated round the door, observed—"There's another swell going in for the Pall-Mall." The majority of them laugh at the whole affair, and it is not criminal law amendments that will reach the source of the disease. The only thing that would rouse the people in defence of the offending newspaper would be if some of our newly-enobled Irish attorneys, like new brooms, ventured to try their prentice hands at "closed doors" and packed juries with some of our Conservative Jeffries and Scroggs for judges. Then, indeed, the "Maiden Tribute of Modern Babylon." the wealthy Minotaurs, the Mrs. A. and Mrs. B. of fashionable establishments, the pains, the smartings, the horrid tales of seduction, violence and captivity might set in a blaze the smouldering, half-conscious feeling of being wronged existing in our lower classes.

THE GLADSTONE DEBATE AT THE LITERARY SOCIETY.

Mr. Mackinnon's debate at the English Literary Society on Wednesday called forth the attendance of some 80 or 90 gentlemen showing the interest taken in home politics by the English-speaking community.

Mr Mackinnon opened in support of Mr Gladstone and his policy which he upheld throughout, and concluded by a tirade of invective against the late Lord Beaconsfield, which exceeded anything of the kind we have yet listened to. He was particularly severe on the Suez Canal purchase which he stigmatised as a Jew brokerish transaction, and blamed the Conservatives for all the entanglements and wars of recent years. Messrs Hiron, Peake, Dinneen, and Hutton followed.

Dr Hiron in an eloquent speech took exception to the unfair manner in which Mr Mackinnon had denounced Lord Beaconsfield, and said he could not support the resolution before the meeting, as he considered no politician remarkable for unity, or consistency. He did not bear to one side or the other, but merely asked justice to the memory of a great man.

Mr. Peake, proved as a supporter of Lord Beaconsfield, supported Dr. Hiron in deprecating Mr Mackinnon's fierce remarks, and considered the present strong position Great Britain held in the Councils of Europe due to the able policy of the Conservative party, headed by the late Earl of Beaconsfield. Mr Hutton supported Mr Mackinnon, and expressed even stronger radical invective. We might indeed say of Messrs Mackinnon and Hutton in reference to their remarks that they appeared "gifted with an egotistical imagination which could at all times command an interminable and inconsistent series of arguments to malign Lord Beaconsfield and glorify the Grand Old Man."

The proposition put to the meeting supporting unity and consistency as characteristic of Mr Gladstone's policy was carried by 9 votes. A number of gentlemen, however, left the room prior to the division.

Professor Pressinger thank Mr Mackinnon and the gentlemen present for their attendance, and congratulated them on the order which happily had characterised a very animated debate.

THE "PALL MALL GAZETTE"

With the exception of the Financial News (extracts from which we give at foot), none of the other London papers take any notice of the awful scandals, published in the Pall Mall Gazette, and our own London correspondent, writing by the mail, says:—"I do not send you the articles, because, firstly, they are too long for you, and, secondly, you would not publish them."

It is probable, therefore, that even if we had the articles in question, our own fixed rules in such matters would not allow us to gratify the curiosity of many of our readers, and we have many times in our long editorial experience noted that, in the publication of such scandals, the papers in England have a much wider frontier line than this journal has ever allowed. Not that we assume to ourself any extreme editorial prudishness, but that we believe public morals here have as high, if not even higher, mark than in London or elsewhere.

It is all very well for Mr Spurgeon to justify such publications as the cleansing of a sewer, but immorality has not reached that pitch in Buenos Ayres, when such repulsive reformation is called for. To meet the newsy avidity of some of our readers, we give the following extracts:—

The Pall Mall Gazette distinguished itself yesterday by a publication which, if it had appeared in the columns of Town Talk, would have subjected its author to a well-deserved term of imprisonment, and which should certainly not be allowed to pass unnoticed by the Public Prosecutor. It is impossible in a decent journal to properly characterise the Pall Mall Gazette's latest sensation; nothing more noisome has ever, to our knowledge, appeared in an English print. The salacious ruffian who wrote it shelters himself from merited infamy by concealing his identity; but what shall we say of the shameless editor of a London newspaper who has admitted this garbage to his columns? To say that he is a disgrace to his calling is to put it too mildly; in his greed for sensation he plays the coprophagan, and having dug up the contents of the social sewers and deposited them at our doors, invites us to join him in his feast of filth. If there be any law against the publication of obscenity, he is clearly amenable to it, and certainly the outrage of public decency by the sale of his foul effusions should be suppressed by the police.

The police yesterday attempted to stop the sale in the streets of the filthy Pall Mall Gazette, and several newsvendors who persisted in offering it were arrested, taken before the Lord Mayor and remanded. So far so good; but what is to be done with the editor and publisher of the vile sheet? Surely they should not be permitted to go scot free; six months in gaol might do them good, and it would, at any rate, show them that the law draws a strict line of distinction between legitimate newspapers and obscene prints. It is earnestly to be hoped that the Public Prosecutor will see his way to securing the condign punishment of the editor and publisher of the Pall Mall Gazette, because they have richly deserved it, and because it would serve as a timely warning to other purveyors of sensational garbage.

We regret, for the sake of decent journalism, that alone among the morning papers of London we have entered a protest against the publication of the lewd and filthy stuff which for the last two days has disgraced the columns of a once-reputable journal. The newsvendors have done better, for the Pall Mall Gazette has very properly been excluded from the stands of Messrs. W. H. Smith and Son and other respectable newsvendors, who have declined to allow it to be placed alongside journals which are fit to be read. The editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, we may state for the benefit of those not versed in newspaper matters, is Mr. W. T. Stead. It is well that the name of a fellow who has so disgraced his calling should be widely known, and it is to be hoped that it may appear upon the list of those convicted of circulating obscene literature."

Eleven street newspaper sellers were brought before the Lord Mayor by officers of the City police upon a charge of causing an obstruction in the City.—The city Solicitor (Mr. H. Crawford) appeared for the prosecution.—Detective-sergeant Cutram, of the City police, deposed that at a quarter to two o'clock yesterday afternoon he saw one of the defendants in Bartholomew-lane selling copies of the "Pall Mall Gazette" of that date. He said "Pall Mall Gazette," and the Defendant replied, "Yes, sir." Witness asked, "How much?" and the Defendant answered "Threepence." Witness paid him threepence for a copy. He examined the paper and afterwards told the Defendant that he should take him into custody and he would have to go with him to the police station for causing an obstruction and selling a copy of a paper containing indecent literature. The Defendant said "All right," and witness took him to the station, where he was charged. The Defendant was in the roadway near the kerb, and there were several persons collected round him, causing an obstruction on the footway. Witness produced 17 copies of the issue dated the 7th inst. and 33 copies of that day's.—Replying to the City Solicitor, the Witness said he had not had sufficient time to look at any portion of the contents of Tuesday's issue, but he had looked at a portion of that day's.—The City Solicitor, addressing the Lord Mayor, said:—In this case I have been sent for to represent the police. I have not had the opportunity of inspecting these papers carefully, but from a very cursory glance at yesterday's issue it appears to me that it contains obscene matter which would render the Defendants liable to be charged under sub-section 12 of section 35 of the City Police Act, for selling an obscene publication. Lord Campbell has defined obscene publications as works of a nature calculated to shock the common feelings of decency in any well regulated mind, and I venture to submit to your Lordship that there is matter in the "Pall-Mall Gazette" of such a nature as is calculated to shock the common feelings of any well regulated mind. I forbear from reading extracts to your Lordship, because I do not think they are fit matter to be read in a public court, but I will draw your attention to paragraphs in yesterday's issue, in which I notice a form of doctor's certificate and a receipt, both of which are calculated, I think, to shock the feelings of any decent mind—The Lord Mayor: Well, Mr. Crawford, this, of course, is a very important matter.

The men who have been brought here are but in a very minor degree responsible parties. The "Pall Mall Gazette has always been considered a highly respectable and well-conducted journal, and the responsible person is the editor of that journal. These men are only agents in a very minor capacity, and therefore one has to look at what is the position of the gentleman who is the real author of it. That I feel to be a very serious question, and one which has already—I know from what I heard myself, and what every one will see in the reports of the Parliamentary proceedings yesterday—claimed the attention of the Secretary of State. I have no doubt, from the answer of the Secretary of State, that he is consulting the law officers of the Crown upon it. Under these circumstances, I think that the best course I can take is to remand the Defendants for a week to see what course is taken by the higher tribunal. I am disposed to think myself, and I speak without any preference for the "Pall Mall Gazette," because it is not a paper I take in regularly—I am disposed to think, and in this I am strengthened by the statement that has appeared, that the editor is influenced by high and honorable views in the course he has taken. Whether he has taken a wise course is not for me to discuss. I have no doubt he feels very strongly about a very great evil, and, as the whole question is one which deserves to be considered by the higher tribunal, I shall remand the Defendants for a week, and I hope by that time some light will be thrown by those responsible in a higher degree in regard to this matter. I shall allow the Defendants bail in their own recognisances in 1*l.* each.—The City Solicitor: I would venture to suggest that this should be accompanied by the condition that the Defendants should undertake not to sell any more copies (the Defendants assented to this.) I may say at once that for the men I have some sympathy, because they might not know what they were selling, but at at the same time I have a public duty to perform, and in the interests of the City I have felt it necessary to trouble your Lodship.—The case was then adjourned for a week, the Defendants being admitted to bail in their own recognisances in 1*l.* each, and they agreed to leave the copies in the possession of the police.

TELEGRAPH ABUSE.

The commercial public of the Plate will learn with pleasure, that a move is being made in London to compel the Telegraph Company to accept "Buenos Ayres" as one word. Our brother editor has already written on the subject, and we believe that he is working his best to have this extra charge on telegrams to this country abolished. We find in a late number of the London Telegraph the following timely remarks which correspond with what our brother editer wrote us by the previous mail. A petition to the Telegraph Conference signed by all the merchants in Buenos Ayres might be a move in the right direction, and would receive from us our most strenuous support. The Telegraph says:—

When the International Telegraph Convention meets, which it will do soon, we trust it will endeavour to redress two or three grievances which the mercantile community has against the system under which messages are now taxed. One of these grievances is the rule which forces all people who live in, or who have business with, extra-European places, whose names exceed ten letters in length, to pay for that name as if it were two words instead of one. In Buenos Ayres alone, we are told, this means an extra tax of at least £100 per annum on telegrams as compared with Monte Video or Rosario. Abbreviation words should be allowed in these cases. Another grievance is contained in the following rule with regard to prepayment of repeated messages. "The charge for at least four words in the reply must be prepaid, even if only one word has to be repeated; and unless the sender indicate in his inquiry that a less number of words has been paid for, it will be assumed that a reply of ten words has been prepaid." This rule, it is contended, is a great hardships since where one word only is, as often happens, repeated, the sender must always pay for at least four. The truth, however, is, that extra-European telegraphy is far too dear all round—dear still even between England and the United States, where monopoly is no so rampant as elsewhere.

HEREFORDS FOR EVER!

To the Editor of the STANDARD.

Sir,

I will call the attention of the public—I mean those interested in cattle-growing and feeding—to a breed comparatively little known in this country, a breed that have been disseminated at home and abroad more than any other breed of the United Kingdom. I wish it to be distinctly understood that they are not a breed of yesterday, but they are one of the oldest and most thoroughly well-authenticated. I refer to Herefords. They were most successful at the early meeting of the Smythfield Club, London, Mr. Westcar obtaining first honors several years in succession with Hereford oxen. Thus their former career requires no further comment from me. Last year was one of continued prosperity to this breed as the highest sale averages were recorded. During the last five years over 800 pedigree cattle were exported annually.

Now, if the public will consider this enormous demand, there will be some reasonable cause for inquiry. I am afraid, personally, that I can give only a faint idea; it is the excellence of the Hereford bull as a sire for the improvement of common cattle for beef producers. Their hardiness of constitution, adaptability to fatten and early maturity must have something to do with the cause.

As an example of what a Hereford can do as a sire, let me refer you to the champion ox at the last Smythfield Club Show, by a Hereford bull out of a common mother, and at three years old, weighed 1 t. 3 cwt. 1 qr. 13 lb., when slaughtered gave 83.4 per cent. of carcase, or 10 per cent. more than any other.

It may be a little presumptuous for me to advise. I hope not, for I am merely throwing out the suggestion. But would it not be well if a few more of this breed were imported into this country as well as northwards?

A Herefordshire gentleman told me they could supply yearling bulls at a very low figure. I should be very pleased to give any of your subscribers an introduction to that gentleman.

Yours,

Hereford.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

The favorite steamer Maskelyne sails to-morrow; she will take a full passenger list, cargo, and some sovereigns. Chevalier Hairby, her popular Commander, is unable to come ashore to-day, but Colonel Quirno, President Roca's aide-de-camp, requests us to say that he hopes Captain Hairby will on his return voyage call at the war office, to give full explanations about the new machine called the "Range finders," which he presented to the President, and which no one in the Government House understands. We wish Captain Hairby a pleasant voyage and hope he will soon be back, as he will probably bring our brother editor with him.

The Bolsa Ball "To go, or not to go, that is the question?" Three thousand tickets are out, but will three thousand people attend? If they do, then there will be such a crush and squeeze that the musicians may stop the music, as dancing will be out of the question. Many of the principal Montevidean families have been invited, and we suppose they will come, as balls are not so frequent in Montevideo as here. The probabilities are, that it will be the largest ball ever held in Buenos Ayres, and the tickets only cost 15 nats. It is not the price of the ticket that cuts but the price of the ladies' dresses. Aye there's the rub.

With much pleasure we state that Mr. John Rourke, who has such a large circle of friends in the Plate, may shortly be expected back from Australia.

They have just had a beautiful exhibition of roses in London. The best rose won £300 prize. Pity 'tis that we could not have sent them some roses from Caballito and Flores.

The Minister of War went, or at least was to have gone out, to the Roads yesterday to inspect the Admiral Brown. We believe H.E. was never before on board her.

The captain of that famous tug and transport, the Azopardo, was hauled over the coals the other day by his superior for using language the strength of which would have made even Admiral Benbow blush. It was on the occasion of landing the troops from Corrientes. The gallant captain, with the assistance of a Velasquez dictionary, gave most satisfactory explanations. Hardly one of the vigorous words imputed to him are to be found in the dictionary, ergo, it was impossible for him to have used them. This is conclusive. The captain is a sea lawyer; a veritable maritime Q.C.

A carpenter named Joe Ferro was locked up yesterday for being so outrageously 'non compos mentis' as to insist on shaving everybody he met with his chisel. He fancied himself a barber.

Let us Economise! says the Pampa! It's the only way to save the country. We are glad to have our influential colleague with us in the endeavour to force the Government into a sound course; but most devoutly hope his prediction that there will be no economy, that the loan negotiation will be renewed, and the country start fresh on the road to Blue Bankruptcy may not be fulfilled. No more foreign loans! No more extravagance! We have faith in Dr. Pacheco.

Backers are almost as soft-hearted as tailors. Yesterday an 'individuo' who seemed fast hending towards 'atorranteism' entered a baker's shop at the Boca, with both hands clapped on his stomach, as if in great pain, and asked for a glass of water 'por el amor de dios.' The ass of a baker, never reflecting that people never take cold water for a pain in the stomach, rushed out to get the water, and the sick man 'made tracks' with the contents of the till, (8 nats) and has not been heard of since.

There was a fire in the Casa de San Patricio on Wednesday. It was barely worth lighting up. Merely a 12-natter.

Statement by a wag who lives near Colney Hatch.—It is the privilege of the lover to be at one and the same time in two situations. When beside his sweetheart, he is also beside himself.

Choice!—Ethel: "Oh, mamma, I've got such a pain!"—Mother: "Where, dear?".—Ethel, a very refined child: "In my sash, mamma!"

Miss Louisa Gourlay (Mrs. Murray), Miss Nellie Murray, and Mr. George Cecil Murray, return to England per s.s. Maskelyne on August 8th, to fulfil important London engagements. We join in wishing them a pleasant journey and a speedy return.

The budget of news via Galveston yesterday was large and lively. Cholera in Marseilles is a very serious business. No doubt there will be the scenes of terror and cowardice and blundering as last year. It is certainly curious that, both in Spain and France the higher classes give the most victims to the plague. The increase in our Indian army does not look like peace. The success of the Egyptian Loan is enough to make all those honourable men who live on the Argentine Budget weep. The idea of that unfortunate Khedive Toothpick rolling in British gold while Argentina cannot get a copper! Nevertheless; so much the better for Argentina!

The weather took a milder twist yesterday. Our barometer has a drop in its eye for next week.

The Governors of Entre Rios, Cordoba and Rioja are all in town. They say they have come about railways, irrigation etc. How very like a whale! Meanwhile we salute the distinguished visitors with hat and hand.

Mr Wood's 80-league estancia on the Rio Gallegos is the talk of town and camp. He has rented this immense tract from Government, and means to stock it with Chilian and Falkland Island sheep. We believe there is a lot of wood on the land in addition to himself.

There was a Celtanic flare-up on Wednesday night in San Nicolas parish, in Calle Tucuman. The speeches were most enthusiastic. The fun of the evening was greatly enhanced by one orator having to be kicked out. This is as it should be. No political meeting is a success without a bit of a breeze. When the proceedings were over, the whole Club, 1500 men, marched to President Roca's house and gave H.E. a round of rousing cheers.

Hooray! The outermost dredge at work in the Riachuelo Channel is now only 1½ square from the anchoring ground of the big ocean steamers; and in three months more these vessels will be able to enter the Boca and land their passengers and cargo on the wharf. But the question is, will the companies send in their steamers. We are much afraid that they won't, unless compelled in some way. The Italian Company, having some 'go' in it, will of course cut out its sleepy competitors and send its vessels in.

Cholera remedies are springing up in the papers already, which is tantamount to bidding the D—l good morning before you meet him, a thing they never do in Ireland. The first nostrum in the field this year against the plague is composed of alcohol, peppermint water, acetutate of ammonia, laudanum, and syrup of ether; to be shaken before taken. Our own impression of cholera is that it is easily dealt with at the first moment, and uncommonly hard to deal with at the last.

Messrs Stiller and Laass made the map of the Bariloche Pass into Chile which attracted so much attention the other day in a colleague's columns. "Amo, amas," I love a Lass; and he is tall and slender." We forget the rest.

Mr Vincent Lopez has a nice job before him: Nothing less than to copy all the books and archives of the old Cabildo. He ought to be well paid for the work. What on earth are these old musty books to be copied for?

A man named James Agon was recently married. A few weeks later he petitioned the court to add a 'y' to his last name.

The owner of one of the gambling houses broken up by the police last week has had the sublime audacity to commence an action against the Chief of Police and one of the Commissaries, for "violacion de domicilio" This is cool.

Some one stole a cart on Wednesday night from Don Dominick Diaz, of 117 Calle San Carlos, while he slept as profoundly as a tolerably bad conscience would allow him. How a cart can be so easily stolen is a profound puzzle to us. Several carts have been stolen this winter.

The "Academia Literaria del Plata" is preparing a grand "seance" for St. Rosa's day. The reunions of this Society are always most intellectually agreeable and fashionably attended.

"Yes," remarked a conceited young bachelor, "I have the greatest admiration for the fair sex, but I never expect to marry—oh, dear, no."—"Indeed!" remarked a lady. "Then I am to understand that you not only admire women, but you have a sincere regard for them as well."

Miss Elida Passo, the first lady that has ever taken out an apothecary's diploma in this country, has opened a "botica" at No. 15 Calle Parana. We hope she will get every support, as she is an excellent example to the rising girl generation. Dispensing medicine is a thoroughly feminine occupation, and we hope to see lots more lady apothecaries.

The Uruguay Lottery has gone where the bad niggers go. It could not comply with the Government conditions, which proves that it was a—— Some of the other Lotteries are trying to keep on their feet, but won't be able. Others will.

The Germans in the Mount are already preparing for the ball they intend to give to Prince Frederick Charles of Hohenloe, who must be very near the Plate now.

Sir D. B., with great gallantry and humanity, had a queer temper. When news came to England that he was one of those poor prisoners who were tried back to back to fetter them, his mother exclaimed, "I pity the man that's tied to my Davie!"

Whenever a fire occurs two more are certain to follow as sure as the sun is not the moon. There was a mild blaze in Mrs Manchini's shop at the corner of Chacabuco and Europa on Tuesday night. It was a wretched affair however, and only cost a few buckets of water. Mrs M. very properly roared 'murder!' when the flames broke out; and her neighbours came and put them out.

En nuestra casa

78—ALSINA—78

El Martes 11 de Agosto 1885

A las 2 p.m.

Remataremos a la mas alta postura y dinero de contado procedente de la afamada Cabaña Las Acacias.

20 esplendidos carneros Rambouillet Argentino, animales del mas puro origen.

Cuando ha llegado a fuerza de largos años de estudios y grandes sacrificios pecuniarios a producir el verdadero carnero Rambouillet Argentino, que puede decirse es el ideal y perfeccion del tipo de los Rambouillet, creemos innecesario estendernos sobre la bondad de estos moruecos, tanto mas que son tan universalmente conocidos en ambas margenes del Plata, por los innumerables criadores y estancieros que los han adquirido.

Unicamente prevenimos a nuestra clientela, que los animales de este año son tal vez superiores y sino iguales a los de los ultimos años.

El segundo lote numerado del 21 al 40 podra verse ya, en la cabaña y en nuestra casa calle Alsina 78, 4 dias antes del remate.

Cedulas F 70½

The speculative boom in the gold market is fizzling rapidly and operations are beginning to assume the dull and monotonous features of a played out speculation. The great moral effect of the Pellegrini business is obbing away, and weakness is creeping into the situation. The bullish props of the speculation appear to be tottering, and it only needs a little push on the part of the bears to bring down the price of the premium. After the great excitement and sudden rise of last week, a dull and stationary market points to a sinking speculation and, unless some unexpected event turns up to ruffle the dull surface of affairs, the premium will fall two or three per cent.

A great change has come over the spirit of the speculation. The ring and the hall are no longer overcrowded; operators and outsiders turn up at a late hour and affairs in speculative circles have lost all the feverish excitement of the beginning of the week. The speculative horse looks tired, the bulls are fagged and the bears are indifferent. Some exciting news is wanted to stir the speculation and put fresh life into affairs round the ring.

Operations in gold for cash embraced $80,000; the market opened at 39 and closed at 38,70. About 30,000 were sold for the 15th at 39. Nearly 400,000 dollars were sold for the end of the month; rates opened at 39, fell to 38½, and closed at 38.80. One hundred thousand were sold for the end of September at 38 and 37½, and 20,000 for October at 37. This was the dullest speculative day of the fortnight, and great apathy prevailed in all quarters. The market closed weak.

Operations in Cedulas continue insignificant. Cedulas Series G, bearing 7 o/o interest, are offered at 87, but it is remarkable to note that there are no longer buyers at this rate. Hard Dollars, meantime, a 6 o/o stock, are quoted at par. Here we gauge the difference between a National Government stock and a Provincial one guaranteed by real estate, and there is no doubt that new home bonds of the Government, bearing 7 o/o, would command a quotation above 90. All stocks and shares are neglected on 'Change, in spite of the superabundance of paper money. About thirty thousand Cedulas F were sold this morning at 70½ for cash and 78½ for the end of the month.

The exchange market rules firm, and rates are advancing. There were drawers to-day at 47d, but takers continue scarce. The paucity of takers of gold exchange is remarkable, and may arise from the fact that gold is scarce. Several hundred thousand sovereigns are on the way out, and may be expected here at the end of the month or in the beginning of September.

The following letter of Dr. Pacheco, Minister of Finance, will be read with interest, as the contents express the views and conduct of the Government in the Pellegrini negotiation. The letter is addressed to Mr. Gallo, Deputy in Congress:—

"My dear Sir,

"I read no newspapers yesterday. I remained at home studying the figures of the floating debt, and drawing up a bill which will be sent to the House on Friday. But I read to-day your letter in the Nacion. Your statements call for no confirmation on my part. You are quite accurate in your statement of the opinions that you expressed with regard to the stipulations of the contract. I see an assertion that the Government disapproved the contract. This is a mistake, and whatever opinion the Government may have of the conditions of the contract, it is my duty to state that no official act of the Government has been produced in this regard. The Executive, fulfilling its obligations, submitted the contract to Congress, and has not withdrawn the bill.

"I have the pleasure of assuring, etc.,

"W. PACHECO."

The tenor of the above letter shows that the Government has determined to forego the pleasure of expressing any opinion in the matter, and trust that the bill will be left to the tender mercy of the Senate and destitute of all support from the Ministerial benches. This is a very nice way for transferring a responsibility on the collective shoulders of the Senators.

Affairs in the Mount are irretrievably dull. The London cable is silent and affairs on 'Change are at a stand-still. The brokers who are now resting on their oars and waiting for eventualities to turn up, expect that the outbreak of cholera in the South of France, the failure of the Pellegrini loan in London, and the violent language of Bismarck's official organ, will combine to put some fresh life into the Unified Stock on the stock-exchange. The situation at present in the Mount is one of wooden matches commissions.

The captain of the steamer Peshawur which arrived at Plymouth on the 5th July from Calcutta, makes the following statement in the English papers:—On the 4th July, in Lat. 47° N, Long. 17° W, spoke British vessel Harwarden Castle of Liverpool, which left Cardiff on the 29th June, bound for Montevideo. She signalled for help and a surgeon. The medical attendant, who was sent on board, reported that on the 3rd of July a gas explosion had taken place in the hold at the bows, killing one man and injuring 6 slightly. The master of the Harwarden Castle determined to put in at Falmouth, where he arrived on the 7th of July.

According to the Montevidean papers, Mr Saturnine Ribes, the owner of the Messageries Fluviales Steamship Company, has left for Europe to sign an agreement with the La Platense Company, whereby he transfers his line of steamers for 500,000$ cash and 500,000$ in shares of the Platense, and takes charge of the Company's affairs in the River Plate. If this be true, it would be deplorable, as the agreement will do away with the present cheap travelling to Montevideo.

Mr. J. M. Benitez, the well known land broker, sold another large property to-day, comprising 7½ leagues of land in the north of Santa Fe, adjoining the 24 leagues sold yesterday. On the map the property sold figures under the name of Salas. The price paid is 8,500 $m/n per league. Seller, Dr. Benjamin Zorilla; Buyer, Mr Ambrosius de la Torre. The same broker, we hear, has sold another very large property in the same district. Mr. Benitez is now known on 'Change as the great Santa Fe land broker.

The gold market ruled hard during afternoon at 38½ for the end of the month. About three hundred thousand dollars were sold. Operations for cash and to-morrow embraced about 70,000$ at 38½ to 38.30. The market closed with buyers at 38½. A few hundred certificates of the National Bank were sold at 95.

Fair amounts of exchange in paper have been passed of late, and there are now more takers of paper than of gold exchange, owing to the scarcity of gold.

The following is a summary of operations effected this morning at the ring during official hours:—

We take the following from the London mails to 9th ult.:—

"To-day money has been so easy in discount market that borrowers were able, at least partially, to supply their wants at ½ o/o. Bankers, however, continued unwilling to lend for less than ½ o/o, and the probability is that this will soon be the real quotation for all bill-brokers' money. The discount rate was variously quoted at ⅜ to 11/16 o/o, and one or two people claim to have placed their bills under the lowest of these figures.

"The silver market was firm, and supplies scanty. Bars were nominally unaltered at 49 3/16d, ¼d, but dollars were bid for up to 48¾d. There were none on hand.

"Foreign Railways.—Central Argentine Debentures advanced 1, to 130 132; and East Argentine ½, to 17 18; while North-West of Uruguay fell 1, to 25 27; and Buenos Ayres and Ensenada Port ½, to 9½ 9¾. Business done:—B. Ayres Great Southern, 160½; ditto Extension, 1880, 12 13/16 ⅜; B. Ayres and Rosario, 11⅞ 13 12½ 13 12⅜; Central Argentine, 175⅛ 6 5 ¼ ⅛ ¼; East Argentine Debentures, 106½.

"The annual report of the Directors of the Central Argentine Railway Co., Limited, shows that the gross revenue for 1884 was £548,400, against £442,391 in 1883, and the net surplus £327,202, against £275,292. After payment of all charges, the balance at credit of net revenue account was £117,939, out of which the interim dividend at the rate of 4 o/o was paid in January last. In the year 1876 a sum of £20,000 was transferred from net revenue to the reserve fund account, and in the year 1881 £26,363 was similarly transferred. The arrangement with the Government having been now carried through, the Board recommend the re-transfer of £35,000 from the latter to the former account, and that a balance dividend of 6 o/o be paid on the 31st inst. This dividend being payable not only on the £1,300,000 original capital, but also on the recent issue of £325,000 (entitled to participate), will require a further sum of £97,500, making the total dividend 10 o/o in respect of the past year 1884, and carrying £3,439 to the credit of the current year."

The steamer Herschel passed on July 18th the Amer. barque Fanny Schofield Lat. 7° 54' N, Long. 27° 57' W all well on board.

We clip the following from the Mark Lane Express of 6th ult.:—

"The market for frozen meat during the past fortnight has been quiet, and prices are slightly lower than those of two weeks ago. Home supplies have been quite adequate to current requirements, whilst the changeable state of the weather has had the effect of alternately raising and depressing values. The fluctuations in the price of frozen mutton have been less marked, although quotations show a slight reduction. The demand for lambs has not been so brisk, the season being near its close. Expected arrivals are as follow:—Elderslie (s), Lady Jocelyn, Wellington, Arawa (s), and Tongariro (s), from the New Zealand ports; John Elder (s), from Melbourne. The following statement, from the Circular of the New Zealand Mercantile Agency Co. shows the results of the various consignments in course of realisation both here and in the provinces:—

Ship Kaikoura from Wellington with 14,923 sheep, 11,000 carcasses sold to date, at 5d to 5½d per lb; excellent condition.

Ditto 316 lambs, 150 carcasses sold to date, at 7¼d; ditto.

Ditto 518 pcs. beef, 476 carcasses sold to date, at 5¾d to 7d roast pcs.; ditto.

Ship Zephyrus from R. Plate with 13,568 sheep and 251 qrs. beef; excellent condition.

Ship Opawa from Napier with 5,853 sheep; condition not yet reported.

With regard to preserved meats, during the past fortnight there has been a fairly active demand for boiled beef, principally on Continental account, and recent values have been maintained. The market for boiled mutton is weaker, and the tendency is to easier rates. The home trade is very quiet, with little or no demand for either class. Importations during the fortnight ended 27th ult. amounted to 9,248 cases from Australia, and 2,342 cases from New York."
